ROUTES DU BONHEUR Between the shores and mountains of Catalonia

Catalonia reveals itself gradually, from Barcelona to the Pyrenean foothills: The road traces the graceful curves of the Mediterranean shores past secret coves and calanques before turning discreetly inland. You will go from Gaudí to Dalí in the streets of beautiful Figueras. The world of art gradually gives way to mountain landscapes dotted with enchanting medieval villages. The madness of Las Ramblas seems a distant dream when facing the majestic summits of Pedraforca.

1 BARCELONA — 1 NIGHT

(1 property available)

Hotel Neri

Hotel and restaurant in town. One of the impressive façades of the Neri, tucked away in the heart of the romantic Gothic district, gives onto Sant Felip Neri square, a magical place with Gothic edifices and the church where Gaudí used to come to pray every day. This hotel was created when, in the 18th century, two mansions merged – one dating from the Middle Ages. It boasts a delightful décor, blending period features with ultra-modern design. The chef creates a Mediterranean cuisine with a seasonal menu in this private, welcoming restaurant. At the top of the building, “Roba Estesa” is an oasis in the city, where you can enjoy vistas of the city at nightfall, while trying delicious tapas.

3 LLADURS — 1 NIGHT

(1 property available)

La Vella Farga

Hotel and restaurant in the mountains. It is in the foothills of the magnificent region of the Catalan Pyrenees — a natural setting worthy of the dreamy, contemplative films of the great Andrei Tarkosvky — where lies La Vella Farga, a large traditional farmhouse and estate built in the 11th century. Like a masterpiece, the view from its vast terrace, which includes a superb infinity pool, presents a striking contrast between the gentle greens of the surrounding nature and the cool blue of the sky. An embodiment of pastoral elegance and tranquillity, the property is imbued with a sense of silence and calm that is deliciously intoxicating. The warm service and the restaurant's innovative cuisine of local, natural ingredients only further confirm the exceptional, if not transcendental, stay that awaits.
