1 SANTA CATARINA PALOPO — 3 NIGHTS

(1 property available)

Casa Palopó

Hotel and restaurant on a lake. The unbroken view of Lake Atitlan and the three volcanoes overlooking it is stunning: from the infinity pool, the terraces or simply through the large bay windows. Built on a hillside, Casa Palopó has preserved a unique intimate atmosphere from its past as a private residence. Its decoration is warm, with a mix of intense colours, massive wood, crafted objects and fabrics and spaces designed to live in. You can stay at the library, in the loungers or in the candle light of the dining room, dreaming of the next escape to the magnificent nature or the discovery of the Maya culture.

2 SAN JOSE — 1 NIGHT

(1 property available)

In the heart of Central Valley, at 1,150 meters altitude, San José enjoys mild spring weather all year round. The city only became the capital in 1823 and to visitors, remains a "new" city. However, in the shade of the skyscrapers are some magnificent buildings from the 19th century, vestiges of the colonial era. San José is the perfect introduction to the country's culture, thanks to its excellent museums.

3 BAJOS DEL TORO — 2 NIGHTS

(1 property available)

El Silencio Lodge & Spa

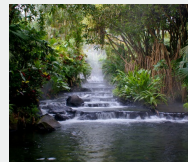

Hotel and restaurant in the woods. Nestled in Costa Rica’s central highlands, this sophisticated eco-lodge and spa offers a gateway to the splendours of the tropical cloud forest. Sliding glass doors guarantee breathtaking views of lush picture-book vegetation, emerging from the clouds. Suites blend into the landscape and offer unrivalled mountain or river views from rocking chairs on a private deck. All are spacious, decorated in natural tones and boast a private outdoor heated whirlpool. The soothing atmosphere of peaceful wellness is in perfect harmony with the property’s magnificent surroundings. The restaurant highlights ingredients sourced from its organic mini-farm, serving dishes inspired by traditional Costa Rican cuisine.

4 LA FORTUNA DE SAN CARLOS — 2 NIGHTS

(1 property available)

Nayara Springs

Hotel and restaurant in the woods. In the heart of Costa Rica's tropical rainforest, you will find the luxurious and award-winning independent villas of Nayara Springs. Set against the backdrop of the Arenal Volcano, the property is home to a fabulously lush world of flora and fauna. A footbridge that discreetly crosses the jungle is the main access to this private resort located at the edge of the national park. Blending both modern and exotic elements, each villa enjoys its own private plunge pool fed by natural mineral thermal waters flowing down from the Arenal Volcano. The spa overlooking the forest is a true sanctuary of serenity. Perfect for a romantic retreat, you will also find this to be a land of adventures set amid the forest canopy, toucans, sloths, and lava fields.
